Who We Are

SEALLT is a regional affiliate of IALLT and a professional association of language center directors and staff, foreign language and ESL faculty, instructional technologists, researchers, administrators and others interested in language learning and technology. Our members come from colleges, universities, K-12 schools and other facilities throughout Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina. Although we serve the above southeastern states, anyone is welcome to join our organization.

Our Mission

- Gathering information with respect to a broad range of issues, from equipment, supplies and vendors, to operating policies and procedures, to trends and research.
- Assisting and encouraging individuals in the 5-state area, particularly those who are new to the directing of language labs.
- Sponsoring joint activities and projects, including influencing IALLT, through representation of the views of the regional membership.

SCOLT-AAFLT-SEALLT Conference in Birmingham April 11-13, 2013 ^[2]
